This Month in Discover Pattaya

Hi Everyone,

At last, restrictions are being lifted and low and behold airports are getting busier with more people coming to Pattaya - long may it continue until we are able to get back to the magical days of just buying a ticket and boarding a plane!

Some of us have already taken advantage of the ease of returning to the Kingdom to go visit loved ones overseas. So with that in mind, we suggest tacking on a short break and on page 12 bring you the first of a 2 part review of Marrakech a great place to do just that.

Whilst here in Pattaya at last we can report that there are more gatherings happening. The first being the very successful Movers and Shakers networking event at Courtyard by Marriott, the Yacht Show at Ocean Marina from 9-12th June, and the Royal British Legion's Garden Party celebrating Queen Elizabeth II Platinum Jubilee on the 11th.

So let me sign off by wishing her majesty and all of you a very festive month. All the best

This month Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II will become the first British Monarch to celebrate a Platinum Jubilee after 70 years of service.

During an extended 4 day holiday, street parties and more than 70,000 'Big Jubilee Lunches' will be taking place across the UK. There will also be Trooping the Colour, Service of Thanksgiving, a Concert and a Pageant, to celebrate The Queen's 70-year reign. Screens broadcasting the events will be placed at The Mall in London, Edinburgh's Princes Street Gardens and Cardiff's Bute Park to enable thousands of people to come together and celebrate Recently there has been widespread concern about the Queen's health given that she has been forced to cancel a string of engagements including the State Opening of Parliament (for the first time in 59 years). Therefore Her Majesty's recent appearance at Windsor castle was very reassuring.

Famously enamoured with equestrian events the Queen seemed delighted to attend the Royal Windsor Horse Show and then a special evening event entitled "Gallop Through History" as part of her Platinum Jubilee celebrations. The Queen, 96 reached the event by car accompanied by her youngest son, Prince Edward. A 5,000-strong crowd cheered and gave a standing ovation as Her Majesty walked to her seat in the Royal Box with her now familiar walking stick. Joined by celebrities including Tom Cruise, Helen Mirren and Damian Lewis amid the pageantry of Windsor Castle the Queen looked relaxed smiling and laughing at the evening's entertainment.

This of course bodes well for the official weekend of jubilee events in June when it is anticipated Her Majesty will make a traditional appearance on the Buckingham Palace balcony at Trooping the Colour which is often seen as the centrepiece of major royal occasions. This year, however, following his ejection from public life, Prince Andrew has not been given a spot and despite earlier claims that the Queen offered Prince Harry and Meghan Markle a space, they have been left off the list, although they have announced that they will be in London for the celebrations with their two children. The final balcony lineup, therefore, is paired down to just 16 people: the Prince of Wales, the Duchess of Cornwall; the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge and their children; the Earl and Countess of Wessex and their children; Princess Royal and Admiral Sir Timothy Laurence; the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester; the Duke of Kent, and Princess Alexandra.

The Platinum Jubilee Bank Holiday weekend begins on Thursday 2 June with Trooping the Colour, Beacons will be lit throughout the UK and the Commonwealth in the evening.

On Friday 3 June, a Service of Thanksgiving will be held at St Paul's Cathedral.

On Saturday 4 June, a number of stars will take part in the Platinum Party at the Palace.

The celebrations will conclude on Sunday 5 June with the Platinum Jubilee Pageant. Thousands of performers will process down The Mall to tell the story of The Queen's 70-year reign in a spectacular procession with the grand finale featuring 150 'national treasures' including Ed Sheeran

PART 1 WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT

With the prospect of travel at last a reality, many of us are now considering a trip to visit friends and family in Europe and the UK. From there it is only a 3-4 hours flight (nothing to us, long haulers) to go to Morocco, where Marrakech is ideal if you wish to tag on a 3-5 day city break.

From the city's airport, it takes about 40 minutes to get to the Medina, the oldest part of the city. This is the ideal location for anyone wishing to indulge in the authentic Moroccan experience. Choose to stay at a Riad, a traditional Moroccan style house built around a courtyard with trees or a small swimming pool at its centre and a dining terrace on the roof. You will be amazed at the number and choice available at reasonable rates. Once you have done this, you would be well advised to book your taxi through them as it will need to drop you outside the ancient city walls to be collected by someone from your Riad who will guide you through the narrow streets. Cars are not allowed here, expect to see only motorbikes and donkeys.

Marrakech is famous for its souks which are markets selling everything from rugs, leather goods, silverware and crockery. Place des Épices is the traditional spice souk and as with everything you choose to buy here in this labyrinth, expect to do some haggling with the traders before you agree on a price. Also, because of the aforementioned motorbikes, it is a good idea to stay on the righthand side of the alley to avoid being run into.

From this perfect vantage point, it is just strolling distance to Jemaa El-Fna square and the souks. Jemaa el-Fna is a vast open square at the heart of the Medina and now a Unesco world heritage site. Expect to see snake charmers and street entertainers but watch out that your hand is not grabbed by over-enthusiastic henna artists and don't stay too long by a pet monkey or snake charmer as they may try to scam you into an expensive photo. Go at dusk and then head up to a rooftop bar to really appreciate the sunset.

You should also look like you know where you are going and use Google maps rather than an actual paper map - otherwise, seemingly friendly locals may try to steer you into their shops by offering to show you the way to a local point of interest. Keep that in mind, dress respectfully and try out your school French (although most people will speak enough English) and strolling around the souks will be a fascinating experience.

If you need to take a breather from all the hustle and bustle visit one of Morocco's beautiful gardens. For example, Jardin Majorelle created by the French painter Jacques Majorelle has an amazing assortment of beautiful lush plants and a stunning indigo blue art deco house as its centrepiece - Instagram gold!

You might also wish to try some refreshing mint tea but expect this to be rather sweet so ask beforehand not to have sugar added if you prefer. Also you must try some of the best freshly squeezed orange juice you're ever likely to enjoy.

Traditional Moroccan food usually includes Couscous a rather bland semolina dish that needs to be accompanied by something a bit more flavoursome and oily to really be enjoyed. For example, it works well with one of the most iconic Moroccan dishes prepared in the dome-shaped clay pot known as a Tagine. Tagine dishes usually include fish, chicken, or lamb that has been left to simmer and slow cooked with herbs and spices - really good!

The best place to enjoy your traditional Moroccan food and drink is from a rooftop terrace restaurant. From here you can get an amazing view of this magical city and enjoy the evocative sound of the call to prayer from the mosques round about.

DISCOVER DINING AT SEELAND BREWERY

At last, the wait is over! After years of watching and waiting for developments at the boarded up site on Thappraya road (just by the Pratumnak traffic lights and opposite Sun Sabella), a brand new venue has opened here - Seeland Brewery. I say "venue" as it is so much more than just a bierkeller or restaurant. Spanning over 4 floors it has a live music area and outside seating making it perfect for corporate events as well as a great place to hang out for private diners. Inside great care has been taken to supply comfortable seating for large parties, smaller families, couples or even single visitors who may want to sit at the bar. There is also a Deli shop not just selling the ham, meat and sausages you would expect but also amazing hand pastries, a large assortment of wines and beverages - even Seeland brewery T-shirts and branded merchandise.

Don't make the mistake (as an Australian visitor informed us he had) of expecting Seeland to just sell beer and eating prior to a visit - you would certainly be missing out. Their menu is extensive and includes homemade Pizzas, Pasta, Thai dishes, Pork platters, Fish, including an impressive wood fire grilled Salmon and mouth-watering desserts. However, we were there particularly to focus on their speciality: Authentic German and Bavarian Cuisine. We had the Bratwurst Nurnberger Art (249 baht) perfectly cooked and extremely tasty with fried potatoes and sauerkraut and Pork Schnitzel available in a selection of sizes with a choice of sides and sauces - we went with potato salad and pepper sauce- delicious!

Then a real talking point a gigantic Pork Knuckle (590 baht-for two people to share). I have eaten pork knuckle before but have to say the one at Seeland is my new favourite because it is really slow cooked to ensure a crunchy outer with off the bone delicious sliceable meat. Plenty for 3 people to share and a great takeaway treat for your pet if it all becomes too much! Craft beer tasting (199 baht) was also a must. 4 glasses with a choice of Wheat Beer, Lager Beer, Vienna Special and Mix Beer (e.g. with Sprite lemonade added) This is a great idea, especially for first-time visitors. The wheat beer I would recommend for lovers of Hoegaarden and larger beer for those who usually drink light bottled beer. However, with Seeland beers, there is so much more flavour as you would expect from a master brewer!

This month the Coffee Detective is rather exotic!

This month's Coffee Detective has been trekking father afield visiting Bacha Coffee right in the historic medina of Marrakech, Morocco. Built in 1910, this spectacular palace served pots of Arabica coffee to celebrated guests including Charlie Chaplin, Josephine Baker, Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.

However, after the Second World War, the palace was closed and fell into disrepair. Sixty years later and after two years of painstaking restoration the palace was brought back to its former glory reopening in 2017 as part of the Museum of Cultural Confluences.

Today Bacha Coffee continues to specialise in 100% Arabica coffees from locations throughout the world. This gives their customers the unique opportunity to explore harvests from over 30 of the most well-reputed coffee producing countries. With outlets not just in Morocco but also in France and Singapore, there is even the opportunity to buy online via their website.

When did you last have your teeth professionally cleaned?

If the answer to that question is more than 6 months ago then you should book an appointment to have it done today. Don't neglect your teeth and only visit the dentist, as many of us do, once there is a problem. Regular cleaning and checkups from a reputable dentist are essential especially as we get older.

Remember how years ago it was almost a foregone conclusion that people would need to have dentures fitted as they got older? Today, we can see that situation has improved with three-quarters of people over 65 retaining at least some if not all of their natural teeth. However, in order to achieve this longevity, it is important to guard against gum disease, dental decay, and mouth infections.

Bacteria, in the form of plaque, is constantly forming on teeth. If it isn't removed it can cause soreness, swelling, and bleeding of the gums. Left for too long it can even cause infections that damage the bone underneath and lead to tooth loss. A dentist can properly clean and descale your teeth in all those hard to get at places that your own brushing and flossing just can't reach.

Dr Thepthai Loicheun has over 50 years of experience. He graduated as a Doctor of Dental Surgery with an additional certificate in the field of Prosthodontics from Chulalongkorn University - ranked no 1 in Thailand. Thereafter he practised in Bangkok with 16 years in his own private dental clinic near Siam Paragon and has now been at Pattaya International Hospital for 11 years.

After all his time spent in the field of dentistry (of which he is still passionate), I ask what improvements he has seen other than better oral hygiene from his patients. Dr Thepthai says that quicker more efficient dental equipment such as the drills he uses have led to the treatment he offers becoming quicker, more efficient and less painful. Also, instead of metal being used to fill teeth, now more attractive and less harmful resin is used and he proudly tells me "We are onto the 3rd generation of LED light systems that compress and help to firmly set the filling".

 Look for New Millennium equipment , With Modern technology and materials , Choose a dentist with Maximum experience , Be assured that you are getting good value with Minimum cost
 Look for a Morally Good dentist (by which I take the Dr to mean one that offers a good and pleasant service)

To number 4 I would personally add ask for Minimum pain! This is because I have always been a bit of a coward as far as dentists are concerned. So for me, what makes the cleaning from Dr Thepthai so great is the strawberry gel! Yes at Pattaya International Hospital they have a strawberry anaesthetic gel that is rubbed all over the gums before the treatment starts. This works like a dream as does the Dr's advice to also relax and think of other things. However, try as I might I was still a little conscious of the work going on in my mouth and therefore very pleased at how quickly and efficiently Dr Thepthai worked his way around my lower then upper teeth.

Trust me it is all worth it when you run your tongue over your newly cleaned teeth and appreciate how much better they feel.

You can book an appointment with Dr Thepthai at

MIDDLE CHILD MAKES ITS MARK

After a world premiere at Miami in February and a European premiere at La Grande Motte in late April, the Leopard 46 Powercat is expected to arrive in Asia this summer. A sister of the 53 PC, the 46 is the 'middle child' in a powercat family set to grow further next year.

The Leopard line is owned by THL Marine, which also owns The Moorings and Sunsail charter fleets, and is built by Cape Town-based Robertson & Caine, which has a long history in producing sailing and power cats.

Although the cockpit is a little smaller than on the 53, it's still big enough to host a group of eight comfortably due to the solid teak table and large wraparound lounge in the centre. Built for Entertaining this is a great social area and features a three-person helm bench seat in the starboard corner, while directly behind is a cooking station with electric grill, sink and fridge.

On the opposite side is a C-shaped sofa with another teak table that seats up to eight, with loungers in front and behind that area. Drink holders are embedded into the armrests. The hardtop offers shade and a mini-windshield along the front provides protection from wind when the boat is running.

Typically, the middle child is seen as one that gets overshadowed by larger siblings, but the new Leopard 46 will hold its own with any big cat in its class. If you want a turnkey boat designed around practical amenities, smart use of space and a hull for rough water, this boat should be on your shortlist.

FOOTBALL ROUND UP

On a pulsating final day in the English Premier League Manchester City came back from 0-2 behind after 75 minutes of play to pip Liverpool to the title and win it for the fourth time in five years. Aston Villa, managed by former Liverpool legend Steven Gerrard, were on course to help Liverpool pick up their second title under Jurgen Klopp but a fantastic fight back by the home team, including three goals in five minutes, secured the title once again.

Liverpool themselves had a scare in their last home game at Anfield. Knowing they had to win against Wolverhampton Wanderers, the visitors took the lead after only three minutes and although the Reds equalised in the first half, it took 84 minutes for the second goal to come and pave the way for them to go on to win the game 3-1. Unfortunately for them by that time City had scored the three goals to lead at Maine Road and it was all to no avail. Liverpool fans were praying for an equaliser from Aston Villa but it never came. City had pipped Liverpool by one point with both teams miles clear of the rest.

In the third Champions league spot were Chelsea. Spurs, who finished the season in excellent form, under new manager Antonio Conte, finished in the fourth spot. The gulf in quality between the top two and the rest must be quite alarming for the Premier League. Even Chelsea, now without the money of Roman Abramovich, will have problems bridging the gap. Antonio Conte has brought about some improvement at Tottenham and Manchester United, after a poor season by their standards, will need to get their act together under new manager Erik ten Hag to get anywhere near the top two in terms of quality and consistency.

The gap in class at the moment is quite stark. Both City and Liverpool are far superior in all departments compared to the rest of the division outlined by the fact that they score more and concede fewer goals, by some distance, than any other team. Of course you cannot rule out Manchester United, with the new manager coming in and their enormous financial muscle, but the managerial record since Sir Alex Ferguson left has not been good and the club finished this season in a malaise, illustrated by the 1-0 defeat to Crystal Palace on the final day.

In the relegation battle both Watford and Norwich knew their fate some time ago but Burnley and Leeds were still battling to avoid the drop on the final day. On paper neither had an easy task but while Burnley were getting beaten at home by a revitalised Newcastle, Leeds were claiming an excellent away win at Brentford, ensuring their status for another season.

West Ham had a good season, finishing in 7th place in the table and reaching the semi-final of the Europa League and another performance of note came from Brentford, who were everyone's favourites for relegation at the start of the campaign but finished mid-table with 46 points, playing some attractive football on the way. Congratulations are also in order for Brighton, under the excellent Graham Potter, who achieved a top half finish in the Premier League for the first time in their history. Eddie Howe also did a fine job at Newcastle after being brought in mid season and it will be interesting to see how they progress, given their spending power.

The Championship and League two play-off finals had not been completed at time of going to press but congratulations to Sunderland and their brilliant supporters for getting promotion back into the Championship.

In Europe Real Madrid coasted home in La Liga, beating a troubled Barcelona by 13 points whilst performing miracles to reach the Champions League final, and AC Milan, beating their arch rivals from the same city, won their first title for eleven years. Erik ten Hag arrived at Manchester United having delivered the Dutch title for Ajax and the farcical French Ligue 1 was won by PSG again. If ever you needed a warning about what a travesty the inequalities of spending power can do to a league competition, look no further.

With the World Cup having moved to November, there will be a genuine break from football this year but it all kicks off again come August, and I for one will be watching.

SPORTS UPDATE JUNE

By Steve Wade.

With the major football competitions having been completed it's time for the summer calendar to take centre stage and in the UK the season starts with the race meeting at Royal Ascot, which this year runs from Tuesday the 14th until Saturday the 18th of June. As always some of the best racehorses in the world will be on show and the traditional parade of members of the Royal family before the start of every days racing will add a touch of colour to proceedings.

The Wimbledon tennis championships, which start on the 27th and run through until July the 10th have already been surrounded in controversy following the banning of players from both Russia and Belarus from this years event. Whatever the circumstances, the championship is always great viewing and will be a must watch for tennis fans around the world.

My new found interest in Formula 1 racing following the binge watching of the "Formula 1 Drive to Survive" show on Netflix will take us to Azerbaijan from the 9th until the 12th of the month and will continue through to the Canadian Grand Prix on the weekend after. Ferrari, the most famous name in motorsport, currently has the lead in both the driver and constructor standings, but the season has a long way to go and both Red Bull and Mercedes have time to improve their performance and contest for both events before the winners are declared.

For the golfers among us, and there are plenty, the third "Major" of the year, the US Open, takes place at the Country Club in Massachusetts from the 16th until the 19th of the month. Golf is another sport that has been mired in controversy lately due to the Saudi backed Super Golf League, which is offering very large amounts of money to lure players away from both the PGA tour in America and the DP World Tour in Europe. As time goes on more players are being lured by the promise of massive prize funds and appearance fees and we will have a clearer picture of the potential damage that may be done to the traditional tours when we see the line up for the first scheduled Saudi League tournament, which is due to start on the 9th of the month somewhere outside London.

For the moment all the best players in World Golf will be teeing it up at the US Open and that is what will be keeping golf fans up overnight this month in this part of the world.

That's about it for this month. It's good to see signs of life coming back to Pattaya now that the restrictions are easing up. Get out and support our local businesses if you can and watch your favourite sport in one of the many venues throughout the city. Cheers.

CINEMA PROJECTION SYSTEMS

PART 2

By Songpone Siriwanlert

In the previous issue, we have talked about the aspect ratio definition. This is the basic of the cinema screening format that you need to know. In the 2nd part of this story, we are going to show you the history and type of cinema aspect ratio since from the dawn of cinema around a century ago.

The 4 : 3 format was the original film format that was shot the first movies on. Technically, the 4 : 3 is also called 1.33 : 1. In this format, the picture frame was almost square, and was the same dimension as early TV box sets. It was also the default size of the first 35 m.m. celluloid film.

Over 100 years ago the film aspect ratios have been changed over time due to the revolution of viewing media. Upon development of soundtrack films, the width of frame needed to be extended from 4 : 3 to 16 : 9 or 1.78 : 1, which is general for cinema screen nowadays. The 4 : 3 TV box sets have been changed to HD TV with 16 : 9 formats as well. This format is co-called "wide screen"

Cinema Scope was an innovation of film screening format in 1953, beginning with 20th.CENTURY FOX. The Cinema Scope is an anamorphic process that uses technique of squeezing a wide image onto 35 mm. film to fit its frame during filming and then unsqueezing it by wide angle lenses when projection on screen. This film presentation is in the format of 2.35 : 1 as well as 2.55 or 2.66 : 1 with curved screen that is so-called "Anamorphic Wide Screen" or Cinema Scope...

In the next issue that shall be the last episode, we will talk about the evolution of Wide Screen and Anamorphic Wide Screen before and after the era of digital movies.....

THIS IS A COMPOSITE PHOTOGRAPH DEMONSTRATING THE GREATER EFFICIENCY OF 55mm PHOTOGRAPHY. IT IS ACKNOWLEDGED THAT 55mm IS DEEPER, RICHER, CLEARER AND CARRIES FOUR TIMES MORE PHOTOGRAPHIC INFORMATION.

❶ The images are radiantly bright and sharp and there is a greater feeling of audience participation than anything seen so far! ❷ The backgrounds are as clearly in focus as the foregrounds! ❸ The illusion of depth is greater than anything seen so far! ❹ No distortion - every seat becomes a perfect seat!

ระบบการฉายภาพบนจอภาพยนตร์

ตอนที่ 2

โดย ทรงพล ศิริวรรณเลิศ

ในฉบับก่อน ได้กล่าวถึงคำจำกัดความของสัดส่วนภาพที่ฉายบนจอภาพยนตร์ อันเป็นหลักเบื้องต้นที่จำเป็นต้องเข้าใจก่อนที่จะไปถึงเรื่องราวในขั้นต่อไป ในตอนที่ 2 ของเรื่องนี้ จะย้อนไปถึงประวัติศาสตร์ และ ประเภทของสัดส่วนภาพบนจอ ในฟอร์แมทต่างๆที่หลากหลายนับตั้งแต่ยุครุ่งอรุณของภาพยนตร์โลกกว่า 1 ศตวรรษมาแล้ว

สัดส่วนภาพ 4:3 คือต้นแบบของฟิล์มที่ใช้ถ่ายทำภาพยนตร์ในยุคเริ่มแรก ในทางเทคนิคนอกจากสัดส่วน 4:3 แล้ว ยังเรียกว่า 1.33:1 อีกด้วย สัดส่วนนี้ เป็นขนาดมาตรฐานของม้วนฟิล์มเซลลูลอยด์ ขนาด 35 มม.ที่ใช้ถ่ายทำภาพยนตร์ในยุคเริ่มแรก ซึ่งให้ภาพที่เกือบจะเป็นสี่เหลี่ยมจัตุรัส และยังเป็นสัดส่วนเดียวกับจอโทรทัศน์ในยุคต้นๆเช่นกัน

กว่า 100 ปี แห่งประวัติศาสตร์ภาพยนตร์โลก สัดส่วนภาพได้พัฒนาเปลี่ยนแปลงไปตามยุคสมัยตามเครื่องมือในการฉายภาพยนตร์ที่ก้าวไปเรื่อยๆ ตั้งแต่มีภาพยนตร์เสียง ความกว้างของกรอบภาพบนฟิล์ม จำเป็นต้องขยาย เพื่อให้มีพื้นที่สำหรับวางร่องเสียง ด้วยเหตุนี้ สัดส่วนภาพที่เคยเป็น 4:3 จึงต้องเปลี่ยนไปเป็น 16:9 หรือ 1.78:1 อันเป็นมาตรฐานสากลจนถึงปัจจุบันนี้ โดยจอโทรทัศน์ก็ได้เปลี่ยนจากสัดส่วน 4:3 พัฒนามาเป็นแบบดิจิทัล หรือ HD TV ในสัดส่วน 16:9 เจกเช่นเดียวกัน สัดส่วนภาพในฟอร์แมทนี้คือเรียกว่า “wide screen” ซึ่งเป็นฟอร์แมทเดียวกันทั้งจอภาพยนตร์และจอโทรทัศน์

ซีเนมาสโคปเป็นนวัตกรรมใหม่ที่ต่อยอดระบบภาพจอกว้างแบบ wide screen 16:9 จากการริเริ่มของ ทเวนตี เซ็นจูรี ฟ็อกซ์ ภาพซีเนมาสโคปเกิดจากกระบวนการ anamorphic กล่าวคือกระบวนการบีบภาพวัตถุหรือภาพมุมกว้างปกติ ให้แคบลงมาแล้วกลายเป็นภาพบีบอัดในแนวตั้ง ขณะถ่ายทำภาพยนตร์ด้วยเลนส์เฉพาะ เมื่อนำมาฉายขึ้นจอภาพยนตร์ จึงใช้เลนส์ฉายที่ถ่างภาพที่ถูกบีบอัดนั้นให้มองเห็นเป็นภาพปกติ ตามธรรมชาติของวัตถุหรือสภาพแวดล้อม สัดส่วนภาพจะเป็น 2.35:1 หรือ 2.55 หรือ 2.66 : 1 โดยฉายบนจอสัดส่วนเดียวกัน เรียกว่า “Anamorphic Wide Screen” ในระบบ Cinema Scope จอจะมีความโค้งโอบล้อมคนดูอีกด้วย

ในฉบับหน้าซึ่งเป็นตอนสุดท้ายของเรื่องราวนี้ จะได้กล่าวถึงพัฒนาการของ ภาพจอกว้าง แบบ wide screen และ anamorphic wide screen หรือ Cinema Scope ทั้งก่อนและหลังยุคดิจิทัล

BUYING OFF-PLAN PROPERTY

Off-plan property purchase is the purchase of a property which has not been built yet, or that does not actually exist, or is currently under construction upon signing the contract. Therefore, the decision is made with only the location and proposed building plans are available for assessment.

BENEFITS

Buying off-plan is one of the easiest ways to acquire a property. Most property developers offer very attractive payment terms. These terms would allow you to pay a small deposit which you can settle in several flexible terms and you only need to pay the balance after the property has come to completion. This provides buyers with time to plan their finances.

Buyers who purchases in the early phase of a development can choose the best units. The units that would, in time, offer highest capital appreciation, and will also generate the greatest rental incomes.

The prices of off-plan properties are generally very competitive and locked at the market price as of the contract date. Properties appreciate in value between the period of buying off the plan to the project's completion date. Properties purchased closer to completion will be more expensive than those purchased early. This is due to the fact that as the demand rises and after selling more units, the prices of all the remaining units also increases.

RISKS

- Buying a property that you cannot physically see or inspect is already a significant risk. This means that when signing the contract, the buyers need to rely on floor plans and images. Therefore, the buyer does not know exactly the quality and how the property will look after completion.

- One of the biggest risks in buying off-plan properties are project delays. In a worst-case scenario, the developer goes bankrupt before completion so there would be a possibility of cancellation of the project and contract. Some property developers do not have their own funds but instead sources fund from the buyers and other financial institutions.
- Sometimes a developer may not have received pre-approval. The design or dimensions of the property may change to achieve EIA and committee approval.
- It is possible that after the completion, the property's value is worth less than what is paid for.

HOW TO AVOID THE RISKS?

It is important to seek legal advice and to begin conducting a thorough due diligence before signing any binding contract or paying any money. Due Diligence is a useful tool for estimating the status of a prospective project and the developer. This procedure significantly helps to reduce the risks involved in buying a property that has not been built yet. Buyers need to have a lawyer in Thailand to check the contract, as well as all material facts and legal parameters of the potential investment.

The title and background investigations provide the initial basis to confirm a safe purchase. The failure to conduct this necessary procedure usually results in serious financial and legal distress on the part of the buyer.

BARRY UPTON'S BRAND NEW YouTube Channel

In recent editions of this magazine, I've been banging on about the importance of the YouTube app in today's world.

Not only is it a hub of entertainment, but also a centre for education and information.

I almost exclusively watch the app in deference and preference to recognized traditional TV viewing, always amazed at what can be found and discovered.

Sometimes I feel as though I'm back to being a student again by learning so much about the world, technology and gaining information about best buys.

In the music world, there are so many concerts and documentaries to seek out plus an open door to new music. Musicians and songwriters who overlook this avenue of promotion and awareness of their works, are missing a golden opportunity to gain a much larger audience and possibly obtain third party licensing for films, TV or commercials. In recent years, everything has changed in music distribution and the days of bulk direct selling of CDs, cassette tapes and, initially, vinyl, are over. To this end, I am proud to be now launching my own music channel under the YouTube umbrella.

FAB BAZ MUSIC TV will eventually house all my musical output over the last few years starting with my latest video album Barry's Tropical Beach Café.

It's such a joy to be sharing new original music with a potential worldwide audience in a visually creative way and producing these recordings of my compositions, together with appropriate music videos, is my favourite pastime.

I say 'pastime' because, despite the very hard work and countless hours that's required, enjoyment is the key to my productivity and it's all a culmination of a lifetime's experience in music and entertainment.

The second reason for launching this channel is that a kind of 'legacy of achievement' is created with a one stop place to house work to be proud of. In future months, I will be working on uploading as much of my previous videos and songs as possible plus maybe some TV programs that I have either produced or been part of.

The key to a successful YouTube channel is audience feedback which is why every viewer is asked to click the 'Subscribe' button (completely free), the 'Like' button and the 'Bell' which means each individual can be supplied information about any new uploads to the channel. The more clicks, the more prominence YouTube provides in their suggested viewing boxes.

In the future, as I did with my last two projects, I will placing as much importance on the visual look as I do with the audio recordings and, firstly, the writing thereof. Those who know me well will not be surprised to know that my next three projects are already gestating in my active mind and will soon be released upon an unsuspecting public. Watch this space for updates.

In the meantime, I hope you all can enjoy my latest offering Barry's Tropical Beach Café complete with golden tropical beach visuals and some very eye catching scantily dressed girls.

The full album in high quality sound can still be downloaded from all recognized facilities for a small fee, a big pleasure for audiophiles.

So please check out my new YouTube channel FAB BAZ MUSIC TV.

Hacks To Make You Smarter

Training your brain to function on a higher level involves three important steps: feeding your brain, rewiring your brain and challenging your brain.

1. Feed your brain

Good fuel to feed a brain comes in the form of fatty acids, particularly those Omega 3's. Coconut oil, almond butter, grass-fed beef, salmon and any fats rich in Omega 3 will give your brain energy to function most efficiently.

2. Rewire your brain

An easy way to upgrade your memory is to practice awareness. Focus just on one person/task at a time learn to be present and give full concentration to listening.

3. Yoga and Meditation

Yoga can help to stretch out the body, rewire your brain with your body, and help you gain a better perspective on being present and aware. Meditation is another way of rewiring your brain by unloading mental baggage and calming the mind.

4. Challenge your brain

Monotony is the killer of creativity. Do something new for example take up a new hobby. It will not only be good for your brain, investing in a new skill will also bring a real sense of achievement and accomplishment.

5. Get rid of clutter

Clean and clear your desk or workspace if you prefer quiet to concentrate invest in headphones or try playing classical music to block out interfering noise.

6. Go old school analogue and write it down

The brain-body connection is strong when you take the act of writing out your thoughts with your own hand. Physically writing something down can really help you remember it.

7. Do important tasks when your brain is at its optimal performance

Everybody has a time when they notice that their brain is at its optimal performance. Recognise when this is for you personally and then allocate it to your most demanding tasks.

8. Help your memory.

An old fashioned reminder is to put a knot in your handkerchief to remember something. However, placing an object somewhere unusual is also a good way to remind you to do something.

9. Always leave your keys in the same place

In total contrast to point 8 leaving keys in the same place helps to avoid the worry of trying to remember where they are. A hook or plate you can deposit them to when you come home each day will help an almost subconscious action of remembering where you put them and can find them

10. Repeat

The theory is, that if you do something enough times and for long enough, it becomes a habit. Thus repetition can also make you smarter by reducing time and effort when carrying out ritual tasks.

The Quarry

In the same vein and Until Dawn Supermassive Games have released The Quarry another interactive third-person horror game. This time you take control of nine different teenagers who with your help have to survive the night at the Hackett Quarry. There are many branching points along the way where you have to decide what to do for the best. These will affect the outcome and also how you relate to the others, Get it wrong and you will see one of the 12 different ways that each character can die also the game may end earlier than the maximum ten hours. To add more replay value at the end of each play-through you earn different collectable cards and after the first time, you unlock Death Rewind so you can undo three character deaths.

Mario Strikers: Battle League

It's four aside in this chaotic OTT version of the beautiful game. Aggressive tackling is allowed and each team gets hold of items during the battle like the banana peels to trip up your opponent and shells that can be fired to knock them over or into the electric fence that surrounds the pitch. The fence also means the ball never goes out. Each Character you pick has different strengths and weaknesses and you can customize them when you equip different gear. Up to eight players can play locally, online multiplayer is available where groups can create their seasons and leader boards.

Starship Troopers - Terran Command

You take control of the Mobile Infantry on various missions and scenarios against the Arachnids in a war for the survival of humanity. It's a real-time strategy game Like C&C with many different unit classes to build from the basic Infantry with their Assault Rifles to the Rocket Troopers with their deadly payloads. As you research new technology weapons like Mechs, Pulse rifles and TAC fighters become available. The Command and Conquer real-time strategy style is a great fit for Starship Troopers. The trouble with it is that all those arachnids are starting to make my skin crawl. A long overdue adaption from the original movie this game has bombastic military music like the original with similar tongue in cheek cut scenes.

WINDOW CLEANING ROBOT, ALFABOT X6

After reading that Elon Musk is ready to start selling his Tesla Robots next year I thought I should have a look at more budget Robotic options available now.

Using Robots to clean high windows sounds like a great safety idea. The AlfaBot auto cleans and can traverse freely over windows and wall surfaces, it has two wheels that wipe gently without a scratch. It uses strong suction to stick to vertical surfaces. It's built-in A.I that detects frames and other obstacles along with a safety rope just in case.

POWERSION PRW10 POWERRAY WIZARD UNDERWATER DRONE.

Time to change things up and take your drone on an underwater safari, I guess eventually you will be able to get one that does both above and under the sea. With a 4K UHD Camera, Fish Finder, and VR Goggles, you can look for sunken treasure without getting wet. You can dive as low as 80m. You can also take 12MP snaps of any marine life that takes your fancy. A 230ft long waterproof tether acts as insurance in case of shark attack etc. By using its sonar along with magnetic bait drops you can find and attract your marine pals. Watch all of this with your VR goggles to immerse yourself risk-free.

App of the month: BZ Reminder

Life is full of hundreds of small details to keep track of like where you left your window cleaning robot or underwater drone. This app focuses on simplicity and supports Android Wear so your smartwatch can tip you off when something important is due. It has a simple built-in calendar to view all your reminders and birthdays. It has a call reminder that keeps reminding you of any missed calls until you cancel it, a bit of a nag but useful.
